chukar, all in their native habitat. With 3,000 acres of closely managed food plots, milo, and native grasses, the fields are teeming with wild birds. Traditional walk-up hunts run September 15 through March 31, with no bag limit for any species of game birds. In addition to their walk-up hunts, HHR also offers a limited number of British driven shoots per season, where birds are driven off the high, picturesque cliffs of the highlands in the traditional European fashion. There are three drives per day, flying 300 birds per drive. Two days of driven shooting are accompanied by one day of walk-up hunting to go after "the ones that got away." HHR also offers a few trophy mule deer hunts each year in October for big-game enthusiasts.

Highland Hills Ranch

Highland Hills Ranch (HHR) is an ORVIS-endorsed wingshooting lodge and has also been selected and awarded Orvis's "Lodge of the Year." In addition, HHR is a charter member of the Beretta Trident Lodge Program, the first of its kind, which requires venues offering wingshooting to undergo a detailed and specific assessment of every area that can affect the guest experience. Highland Hills Ranch has been designated a Beretta Two Trident Upland-Bird Lodge, one of only four lodges in the world with that designation.

Highland Hills Ranch provides wingshooters with the unique opportunity to hunt for the "grand slam of wingshooting": ringed-neck pheasants, Hungarian partridge, valley quail, and Guests relax and enjoy the rustic elegance of the 10,000-square-foot log lodge at Highland Hills Ranch, where they stay in one of the lodge's six guest rooms, all with private baths, or in one of the five private, spacious cabins, each appointed with its own gas fireplace and private bath. The ranch can accommodate up to 21 guests and caters to corporate retreats. After visiting the ranch, one guest left with the following impression:

"Highland Hills Ranch is the all-around finest hunting facility I have ever visited in America."

Summer at the Porches

Many people associate Steamboat Springs with winter—famous for its Champagne powder, Olympic gold medalists, and winter recreation—but summer in Steamboat is equally inspiring. Offering a vast array of endless outdoor activities, festivals, and family-friendly Colorado charm, Steamboat is truly a four-season Mecca, and The Porches is the premier luxury home community right in the center of it all. The Porches' genuine neighborhood is perfect for multigenerational family gatherings in the midst of an outdoor enthusiast's paradise. Situated in an ideal location minutes from the gondola at Steamboat Ski Resort, The Porches offers a superior level of personal service, family-friendly amenities, and spacious, luxury residences built with a quality of craftsmanship never before found in the area. The Porches' real estate offering includes whole ownership and fractional ownership in the private residence club as well as nightly rentals. Each residence offers four to five bedrooms and bathrooms, large gourmet kitchens, a personal game room, cozy fireplaces, flat-screen TVs, and a bunkroom for the kids—complemented by community amenities such as an outdoor pool and hot tub as well as a fitness center and game room. The units are located close to Steamboat's many summertime activities, including horseback riding, miles of hiking trails, hot springs, rafting tours, fly fishing, hot air balloon rides, ATV tours, and so much more. The Porches continues to buck the trend in the luxury second-home market in Steamboat Springs by maintaining strong sales activity and recently completed the construction of two new residences.
